Mutual Life Insurance Trustees' Committee Will Scrutinize

Business Methods. M'CURDY'S RECOMMENDATION

Sensational Statement Followed By Remarkable Report of

" Equitable's Profits.

(By Associated Press.) NEW YORK, October 25.-More startling than the testimony before the legislative committee investigating the methods of insurance companies to-day was the announcement by President Richard McCurdy, of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, that a committee of the board of trustees of his company had been appointed to investigate the company and pointed to investigate the company and its methods. The members of the committee are William H. Truesdale, Effingham B. Morris and John W. Auchincloss, all prominent in the financial and business world. This action was tacen at a meeting of the board to-day, and was the result of the insurance investigation. The matter was brought before the board by President McCurdy, and the committee will begin its work at once.

Equitable Profits

Equitable Profits.

Still another interesting development in Insurance matters was the statement issued to-day by President Morton, of the Equitable Life, showing that the receipts of that company for the nine months of this year exceeded the expenditures by $15,723,197, an increase of over $500,000, compared with the same period last year, Receipts from premiums of policies for the third quarter of this year were over $1,000,000 less than in 1904.

After an entire day given over to the examination of Emory McClintick, actuary of the Mutual Life Insurance Comary of the Mutual Life Insurance Com-pany, and to reading column after column of figures, the legislative committee ad-journed until November 8th, the day af-ter the municipal election. This extended adjournment was taken to enable the members of the committee who are can-didates for re-election to the assembly to meet their constituents and conduct their campaigns.

The testimony of Mr. McClintick was of a technical nature. A number of his explanations brought out the fact that explanations brought out the fact that his ideas were in many respects at variance with the established methods of insurance companies, and that of his own company in particular. This was especially apparent when the subject of deferred dividends policies was being inquired into. He said the word "deferred" was ambiguous and misleading, as it implied that dividends were accumulating or were paid at the end of each year. The company, he said, reserved the right when it wrote a policy to say what amount should be apportioned at the end of each dividend period.

Mr. McClintock said he was strongly in favor of limiting the amount of busi-dividend period.

Mr. McClintock said he was strongly in favor of limiting the amount of business a company should write. He said an attempt had been made to come to an agreement with the New York Life eand the Equi ble Life to limit the amount of business done by each company to one billion dollars. This was finally increased to $1,509,000,00, but James H. Hyde, of the Equitable, declined to enter the agreement, and then George W. Perkins, of the New York Life, objected Mr. Hyde's reason was his ambition to make the Equitable the largest insurance company in the world. Mr. McClintock thought that a law limiting the amount of business would be a good thing, and feit sure the Mutual Life would lend its support to such legislation.

These views are contrary to those expressed by President McCurdy, of the Mutuel, when he was on the stand. Mr. McCurdy did not think that any company's business should be limited, even at the point when that business falled to be profitable to the company. Mr. McClintock also thought that a law compelling the declaration of dividends at stated periods would be unwise.

We president McCurdy, of the pressed by President McCurdy, of the pressed by President McCurdy, of the pressed by President McCurdy, of the mcCurdy did not think that any compary such that a law compary is underly did not think that any compary is underly did not think that any compary burses should be limited, even at the point when that business falled to be profitable to the company. Mr. McClurdes also thought that a law compelling the declaration of dividends at stated periods would be unwise.

Remarkable Recuperation.

As to the method of computing the dividends that should be paid on a policy, he said the apportionment was made upon his judgment. It was not a matter of accurate exiculation, but was based on the experience of previous years. The interest carned by the court, in the dividends were reduced, the market value of the company's securities and deviced the previous years. The interest carned by the court in the point when that business falled to be profitable to the company of the declaration of dividends at the point whe nihe dividends were reduced, the market value of the company's securities had decreased. In 1991, however, the securities rose in value, so that eight millions of dollars lost by the decrease the year before were regalated and a million in addition. The dividends were not increased for 1994, however, yet they were not cut. He was still on the stand at adjournment.

Are We Extravagant?

Our foreign trade for September shows exports larger by nearly two millions than ever before and imports larger by eighteen millions than ever before. The comparison in each case is with last year, until now the record.

Three times this year imports have exceeded one hundred millions a month. Only five times before had they exceeded one hundred millions.

With expanding prosperity, bumper crops and busy factories, our exports for nine months have been $56.00,000 more than in the same months of 1901. Imports are $235,000,000 sreater. The "balance of trade" for the berlod was smaller than in any recent year.

Once before, in the iweive months ending September 30, 1903, we passed the pulsed it by $157,000,000.

The most striking increase in value of imports is in sugar. But furs, diamonds, larger red automobiles and distilled lators show considerable net/viv at the custom-houses.—New York World.
